

Project part 1

- Name: The Burger Palace
- Topic Description: The Burger palace is a website to a restaurant's menu. The menu will feature a variety of different food options. Users will use the site to place orders. Users will also be able to see reviews on the site. Additionally, users can also see the ingredients used in each item.
- Page Names: About us, Contact us, Catering Services, Reviews, and Specials
- Data Description: We will be storing a list of menu items and a list of prices. Customers can add and remove items from their own individual orders. Only the administrator will be able to edit items already on the menu. We will store the costumers name and the customer's order until its finished. We will store price information for each item, so that the customer can see their cost of their order.
